IntelliAdmin Remote Control [Win/Mac]

Easy remote control your target computers, establish remote control, monitor target computers, and search target computers by name through the Internet. You can install this application in Windows XP, Windows Vista, Windows Server 2003 and higher versions; it works on all Windows operating systems. Usage Tips: You may enable the Windows firewall, specify the IP address and port of the remote control server, and apply the password to allow connections only from specified IP addresses. You may specify the minimum number of connections per day, the login period, specify accounts that may connect to the remote control server, configure the connection settings (login account, password, auto reconnection, etc.), and learn how to disable the remote control connection (for example, if you suspect that you have been detected). You may receive and send clipboard data between the remote control server and the target computers. At installation, you may specify the connection settings (hotkey, timeout, etc.), download instructions (copy, send, etc.), and apply the software update. Suggestions for Improvement: The remote control setup window does not show the detailed system information, and the standalone installation window pops-up after the installation, What is new in this release: New and improved features New in 6.6: • Switch the system language as required. • Improved the interface.
